

VACCINES IN THE 21ST CENTURY

With keynote speaker Professor Gagandeep Kang

Thursday, 14 February, 9.00 - 5.00pm

The Peter Doherty Institute for Infection and Immunity Auditorium, 792 Elizabeth Street, Melbourne

| | | |
|----------------------|--|---|
| 9.00-9.05 | Welcome | Professor Stephen Rogerson, Doherty Institute Professor Kanta Subbarao, Doherty Institute |
| 9.05 - 9.15 | An overview of modern vaccine development | Professor Peter Doherty, Doherty Institute |
| 9.15 - 10.00 | Rotavirus vaccines and intussusception | Professor Gagandeep Kang, Translational Health Science and Technology Institute |
| 10.00 - 10.30 | From discovery to development of a novel rotavirus vaccine to prevent rotavirus disease from birth | Professor Julie Bines, Murdoch Children's Research Institute |
| 10.30 - 11.00 | The beneficial non-specific effects of vaccines | Professor Nigel Curtis, Murdoch Children's Research Institute |
| 11.00 - 11.30 | MORNING TEA | |
| 11.30-11.55 | Influenza vaccines: current status | Professor Kanta Subbarao, Doherty Institute |
| 11.55 - 12.20 | Ethics of priority vaccine allocation in an influenza pandemic | Professor Jodie McVernon, Doherty Institute |
| 12.20 - 1.20 | LUNCH | |
| 1.20 - 1.45 | Vaccines against drugs | Professor Joe Torresi, Doherty Institute |
| 1.45 - 2.10 | The conjugated Vi vaccine - a game changer for preventing typhoid fever? | Professor Dick Strugnell, Doherty Institute |
| 2.10 - 2.35 | Pneumococcal conjugate vaccine - what can pneumococcal carriage tell us about vaccine impact | Associate Professor Fiona Russell, Murdoch Children's Research Institute |
| 2.35 - 3.00 | Where are we with malaria vaccines | Professor Stephen Rogerson, Doherty Institute |
| 3.00 - 3.25 | Progress towards development of group A streptococcal vaccines | Professor Andrew Steer, Murdoch Children's Research Institute |
| 3.25 - 3.50 | Progress towards the development of an HIV cure | Dr Amy Chung, Doherty Institute |
| 3.50 - 4.15 | AFTERNOON TEA | |
| 4.15 - 5.00 | Panel discussion: Future of vaccines and disease prevention | Professor Gagandeep Kang, Translational Health Science and Technology Institute Professor Kanta Subbarao, Doherty Institute Professor Sharon Lewin, Doherty Institute |

doherty.edu.au  /DohertyInstitute  @TheDohertyInst #DohertyInstitute  dohertyinstitute

A joint venture between The University of Melbourne and The Royal Melbourne Hospital